Ch_4 The Secret Garden

Deep Dive – Answer the following questions with reference to context

1. "There's a robin calling someone he's friends with," Dickon said...

a. Recall: Which friend do you think was the robin calling?

Answer: The robin was calling Dickon, as it knew him well and trusted him.

b. Infer: Birds tend to fly away when humans move close to them. Why do you think the robin trusted Dickon?

Answer: The robin trusted Dickon because he loved animals, understood birds, treated them gently, and never harmed them. The birds felt safe around him.

c. Analyse: Write a few lines about a similar friendly interaction you have had with a bird or an animal.

Answer (Sample): Once, I fed a stray puppy every day. After a few days, it started wagging its tail whenever it saw me. It trusted me and became my friend. I felt very happy to care for it.

2. "If you were a missel thrush and you showed me where your nest was, do you think I'd tell anyone?"

a. Recall: Who was reassuring whom and why?

Answer: Dickon was reassuring Mary that he would never tell anyone about the secret garden and would keep her secret safe.

b. Infer: What has the secret garden been compared to in these lines? How are they similar?

Answer: The secret garden has been compared to a missel thrush's nest. Both are hidden, private, safe, and should be protected from others.

c. Analyse: If you were the listener, would you trust Dickon with a secret? Give reasons behind your answer.

Answer: Yes, I would trust Dickon because he is honest, kind, caring, and trustworthy. He respects nature, keeps promises, and protects the things that are important to others.

Read, Reflect and Write

1. How does the writer show us that the secret garden is a special place for Mary? Cite examples from the story.

Answer: The secret garden became Mary's favourite place. She worked there every day and enjoyed watching new plants grow. Gardening made her healthier, happier, and more confident. The garden gave her hope and helped her forget her loneliness.

2. Read this line from the story: "It's a strange, pretty place. It's like we're in a dream!" Imagine you are Dickon, and you are looking at the secret garden for the very first time. What do you see that is 'strange' and 'pretty'? Why do you think the place feels dreamlike?

Answer: I see old grey trees, ivy-covered walls, tangled creepers, stone seats, flower urns, and fresh green shoots growing among dry branches. The garden feels dreamlike because it is hidden, peaceful, beautiful, and full of mystery.

3. Working in the secret garden made Mary feel happier and helped her through a difficult time. Briefly describe an activity (or activities) that bring you joy.

Answer (Sample): Reading books, drawing, and spending time in nature bring me joy. These activities help me relax, improve my mood, and make me feel peaceful and happy.
